

New Lighting For Schools Is Discussed

Recommendations Are Made by Experts From Company

The fundamental requirements for good school lighting was the subject of a meeting held Monday and attended by members of the County School Board, two officials from the main office of The Dayton Power and Light Company, local employees of the company, and two local electricians.

The meeting was arranged at the request of the Fayette County School Board in order to check the adequacy of present lighting conditions in the county's schools. With the objective of keeping the children's eyes healthy, plans were made for improved lighting facilities in each of the county schools. A copy of these plans was given to each representative of the County School Board.

Henry White, lighting sales supervisor of The Dayton Power and Light Company, addressed the meeting and D. R. Armstrong, sales representative of the company, was also present.

School Board members present at the meeting were: W. J. Hilly, County School superintendent; Fred Burr, Bookwalter and Yatesville Schools; Denver Denen, Concord Township Schools; Elmer Simerl, Bloomington School; Mrs. Senath Thompson and Elmer Armstrong from Union Township.

Local employees of the Dayton Power and Light Company, Cline Deere, Dwight Johnson and Stuart Gossard, and two local electricians, Willard Greer and John Laufer, were also present at the meeting.

Seven-Year-Old Bitten by Mongrel

David W. Rose, Jr., seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. David Rose of the Leesburg Road, was under treatment by Dr. J. H. Persinger for bites by a possibly rabid dog Tuesday following an attack by a large black, brown and white mongrel Monday.

The dog, which is believed to belong to Davey Hill of the Danville Road, has not been located, although Mrs. Rose reported the incident to the Health Department and the sheriff's office.

The dog jumped on David when he attempted to pet it. Throwing David to the ground the animal inflicted wounds on David's head and shoulders before it could be pulled from the boy by his uncle and grandfather who were with him.

Dews Named On State Committee

A letter has been received by Mac Dews of the Dews Insurance and Real Estate Agency, this city, announcing his appointment as a member of a committee of three to draft resolutions for the annual convention of the Ohio Association of Real Estate Boards which meet later this year. The notice came from Earl G. Smith, president.

Other members of the committee are L. T. Palmer, Middletown and H. L. Johnson of Elyria.

Jupiter Street Done Near New Plant Here

Jupiter Street leading into the new Brown and Brockmeyer plant has been completed. W. W. Hill, city manager, announced Tuesday as he said that the street is now in use by the company which is now hauling two-ton loads over the new stretch.

From the intersection of Lake Avenue and Jupiter Street for approximately a block abutting the plant, Hill said that the engineering department had finished the road with stone.

Mainly About People

Owens and Son Will Have Hogs At Duroc Show

National Congress To Draw 1,000 To OSU Farms

A bred fall gilt and a spring boar pig have been consigned by J. L. Owens and Son of Jeffersonville to the National Duroc Congress to be held in Columbus on August 1 and 2.

Owens will be among the 1,000 farmers, purebred breeders and college specialists from the hog raising states of the nation expected to attend the event, which will be held on the Ohio State University farm.

The congress, according to Owens, is sponsored by the United Duroc Record Association in conjunction with OSU, will begin at 9 A. M. August 1 and is open to the public. Everyone interested in hog raising is invited to attend. Congress visitors will be treated to a free ham barbecue the evening of August 1 and a $300 bred fall gilt will be offered for farmers during the auction August 2.

The theme of the congress will be "What Type of Hog for Most Profit?" The two-day educational program will feature an open forum type conference, judging contest and carcass demonstration led by livestock authorities and judges from nine states, said Owens.

Climaxing the congress program will be a national show and sale of 165 bred gilts and spring pigs, the pick of top-ranking herds in 16 states from Oklahoma to South Carolina. They will be competing for an unprecedented premium of $3,350. The public auction of all show entries will conclude the program on Saturday afternoon, August 2.

Six-Year-Old

The babies—Diana Jean Brand, eight weeks, and Rosemary Morton, 10-weeks—were found dying in their cribs of fractured skulls June 6. Almost from the start, Chief Switzer has believed their deaths accidental and McLaughlin has stuck to a theory of murder.

In young Gue's statement, he admitted playing with the babies and said there was no one in the room at the time.

Quizzed by James S. Ellis, freelance correspondent and private investigator from Pittsburgh, the boy said:

"I was in there (the ward), playing with the babies, and I dropped them on the floor. I climbed up on the cribs and tried to get them."

Questions and answers then went like this:

Q—Did you put the babies on the floor?

A—Yes.

Q—Did you play with them?

A—Yes.

Q—Then what did you do?

A—I put them back in bed.

Later, the statement said, young Gue went back into the room with other children, and a nurse washed his hands. He said he didn't know who the nurse was.

Roger's mother also was quoted in the statement as saying:

"Well, we knew right along that Roger wasn't telling the truth. We felt that if we could be alone with him, and get the fear out of him, we could get the truth out of him."

"I honestly believe now that he has no realization that the children have died. He thinks they are all right."

Besides Investigator Ellis, others listening to the boy's statement were Willard Schauer, reporter for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, and Chief Switzer.

Mrs. Walter Flint Dies in Hospital

Mrs. Walter P. Flint, 58, of Springfield, a former resident of Washington C. H., died at 2:25 A. M. Monday morning in the Springfield City Hospital after a serious illness of a week. She had been in failing health for three months.

Mrs. Flint was born in Washington C. H. and was a member of the Washington C. H. Christian Church.

She is survived by her husband; one son, Donald Flint of Springfield; two daughters, Mrs. Wanda Whaley of Springfield and Mrs. Hazel Malone of Fort Wayne, Ind.; two brothers, Harry and Homer Kimmy of Washington C. H.; four sisters, Mrs. Lizzie Jones, Mrs. Chelsie Gault, Mrs. Edith West and Mrs. Ethel Allemang, all of Washington C. H., and seven grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements under the direction of the Littleton Funeral Home in Springfield, have not yet been completed.

Picnic Planned By Jasper Council

The annual picnic of Jasper Farm Bureau Council No. 1 was planned at a meeting of the group Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Bock.

The group also discussed plans for the fair exhibit. Over 30 members and visitors were present at the meeting, which was preceded by a potluck supper.

The next meeting will be the council picnic at Coney Island. Members will meet at Milledgeville at 9:30 A. M. August 17 to go to Coney Island.

with the violent deaths of two baby girls there June 6.

The parents of the infants—Mr. and Mrs. Leo Brand and Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Morton—charge the defendants conspired to conceal information and hamper a police investigation of the deaths.

Named in their petitions were E. J. Lincke, superintendent of the hospital; Murna Croft and Marian Sillock, nurses at the hospital; J. G. Lester, president of the hospital's board of trustees.

A fifth defendant is James Dooley, a writer who assisted Lincke in preparing an announcement of the deaths.

Conflict

On Java itself, most populous island of the East Indies, news bulletins and communiques from both sides indicated that at least seven Dutch operations were under way in what observers interpreted as an attempt to pinch off the republic into isolated segments for a final cleanup.

These operations were: In western Java, drives south from Buitenzorg, east from Bandoeng and west from Bandoeng; in central Java, a movement south from Semarang, and, in eastern Java, a push south from Soerabaja a movement island from Probolinggo and a stand at Banjoewangi—the last to prevent any Republican flight eastward to the island of Bali.

A Dutch army communique this afternoon, while withholding geographical details, said that "all objectives for the first 24 hours were reached and at many points our troops even advanced much further." The communique reported resistance less than expected. It listed Dutch casualties yesterday as 150 dead and wounded.

It said the population "remains quiet and continues at work" and added that demolitions and arson had been reported from "only a few places."

On the other hand, a Republican informant in Batavia said the Dutch were striking stiff resistance in their drives from Soerabaja and Buitenzorg.

A high Dutch official said that when present objectives had been seized, perhaps within three or four days, the Dutch might halt their "local police action," since their mission then would have been fulfilled.

effectiveness as workers and their decency as human beings. We don't believe Communists would be happy in this community. As Vice-President Alexander stated this spring 'Antioch College will not hire or retain a professor who is a Communist, for Communist party members and their affiliates place means above end and their party before country'."

Prof. Steinberg said he would make no comment on Steele's assertions until he had read the testimony of the congressional hearing.

In a telephone interview, Prof. Corey said he was "considered as one of the outstanding enemies of the Communist party."

"Once upon a time I was a Communist," Prof. Corey said, "but today I am known as an anti-Communist. For the past ten years I have been writing against Communism. I have published a series of articles in which I criticized Communism because it is a destroyer of liberal democracy."

"It is men like Steele," Prof. Corey said, "who are the best friends of Communism because the best service one can do to Communism is to attack liberals and anti-Communists for Communist ideals they do not hold. They would do better if they found out the real Communists and attacked them."

Cherry Hill Plays Indoors On Rainy Day

Basement Room Used
To Provide Play
In Bad Weather

Jack and Mike Summers, Jack Gillen and Malcolm Thompson sat outside on the window of Cherry Hill school in the rain Monday, even though Miss Marilyn Cole, supervisor at Cherry Hill, invited them to come into the basement of the school where the kids spend the rainy days at the playground.

Rain is hard on the children attending the playgrounds, said Miss Cole, because staying indoors to play is not as satisfactory as being able to use the swings, slides, basketball courts, the sand box and the teeter-totters which deck the shady lawn at Cherry Hill.

Over in one corner of the big basement room, Kirsten and Gretchen Himmelsbach were playing "keep away" with Shirley Hickman. Although the ping pong table was not in use Monday morning, Miss Cole said that this is one of the favorite rainy day sports of the kids at Cherry Hill.

A bulletin board with photographs of the playgrounds and samples of the craft work done by the children will be shown at the county Fair in the Craig Bros. booth and the children at Cherry Hill were working against time to complete their potholders and pipe-cleaner furniture.

Making potholders on Monday were Margaret Campbell, Garrell Leasure, Jack Hickman and Marie and Delcie French—who were working on a potholder jointly. Joyce Metzmaier, a young visitor from Columbus, was assisting Miss Cole, by helping the younger children take their completed potholders from the looms. Harry Griest was sitting on a long table waiting for a loom. Shirley Meyers had already finished her potholder and Sue McNutt was getting together materials to start one.

Evelyn and Sue McCoy were showing the glasses they had made out of pipecleaners.

Miss Cole said that another pastime for rainy days was the story hour. Dog stories and other animal stories were the children's favorites.

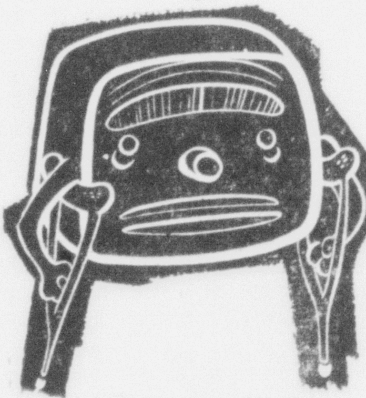

The principal foe of the walrus is the polar bear.

Little Brown Men of Indies Don't Want Any Dutch Uncle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK.—(AP)—The most exciting family scrap on the horizon is the effort of 70,000,000 little brown people to say goodbye to their old Dutch Uncle.

The uncle has had a lot of trouble in the last three centuries keeping them under his empire roof, where they've always paid a big share of the rent.

The American policy in the Philippines is one reason Holland—the Dutch Uncle—is confronted with its biggest crisis since it "adopted" the East Indies.

For, looking across the Pacific waters to their cousins in the Philippines, the 70,000,000 little brown men of the Indies were heartened in their own quest for independence by the action of Uncle Sam in promising and delivering full freedom to his nephew Filipinos.

This United States policy was little to the liking of European imperialists. Lord Louis Mountbatten, now viceroy to India, recognized its effect on subject peoples.

At a reception in Singapore almost two years ago we were discussing the post-war surge of the brown people toward freedom. Lord Mountbatten turned to an American correspondent and said, smiling:

"Of course you people started all this with your policy in the Philippines."

But there are other factors that helped put the Netherlands home government in dutch with the inhabitants of its green and profitable Pacific paradise.

One was the growing power of the independence movement in India. Another was the loss of face the Dutch suffered when the Japanese Army occupied the East Indies and indoctrinated the natives with its heady pie-in-the-sky prospect of the greater East Asia co-prosperity sphere.

The Japs also trained the Indonesians in modern warfare and turned over much of their own equipment on Java to them after the end of the war.

With this dubious rusted armament the 200,000-man Indonesian Army thus now faces a Dutch Army of 120,000 men well-equipped with British and American tanks, guns and planes.

But if full scale war develops, the Indonesians by guerrilla attacks and wanton destruction of Dutch productive policy property may make reconquest of the East Indies to expensive for the Hague's slim pocketbook.

The native leaders are well aware that post-war Holland—only 12,712 miles in area with a population of slightly over 9,000,000—is in no financial position to wage a long fight against 70,000,000 subjects occupying a territory of 790,000 square miles half a world away.

They know that, historically, Great Britain faced a roughly similar problem with India and bowed to the situation despite the clamor of her more ardent imperialists.

Most Javanese are Moslems and traditionally good warriors. They led many savage revolts against their masters until the Dutch government instituted notable reforms that finally won it the reputation of being the most enlightened of colonial powers.

In 1825 a hero of Java, Dipa Negara, began a bloody rebellion that lasted five years and cost the Dutch heavily in men and money. It was so expensive that Holland had to turn to a private citizen—Baron Van Den Bosen—for funds to save the colony, and named him governor general.

In this period Java had only 5,000,000 population to 2,600,000 in Holland. But in twelve years some $650,000,000 was wrung from the colony.

Today Republican leaders demand full freedom for the 70,000,000 people in the rubber, oil, rice, and copra-rich East Indies. Holland's empire plum. They think they are at last in a position to get it.

One Minute Test

- Do you remember what President Roosevelt's first fireside chat dealt with, on March 12, 1933?
- Is there any difference between Congress recessing and adjourning?
- Some southern states have laws which require the voter to pay for balloting privileges, in what form is the payment levied?

Today's Horoscope

If this is your birthday anniversary, you have a happy and even disposition and should marry young, preferably one with an emotional complement to your quiet temperament. You are versatile and resourceful and have a keen, penetrating mind. You are friendly, appreciate the good in others, and are fair and generous in every way. The day is good concerning the past, finances, distant interests and romance. Your affairs will prosper in the next year, promotion being likely. Health will improve and a more contented state of mind exist. Push all your affairs to the utmost. The child who is born on this date will be fortunate in love and profession, employees generally proving most helpful. An artistic or literary career is advised.

Words of Wisdom

Education begins with life. Before we are aware the foundations of character are laid, and subsequent teaching avails but little to remove or alter them.

Hints on Etiquette

A man gets out of the train, bus or street car first and assists his companion out. However, it is rude for him to push ahead in a waiting line to get off first.

One Minute Test Answers

- The banking crisis.
- When Congress recesses it sets a date for reconvening; when it adjourns, it does not reconvene until the next regular session or until called by the president.
- Through the poll tax which must be paid before a citizen can vote.

The Lost Family Doctor

According to Arthur J. Snider, a writer on scientific subjects, the family doctor, like the early American Indian, is slowly vanishing in many communities.

A survey conducted by the United States Public Health Service shows that one in every ten physicians in a large midwestern city is a specialist in surgery, one in every fifteen a specialist in obstetrics and gynecology, one in twenty a specialist in internal medicine, and one in twenty a specialist in eye, ear, nose and throat diseases.

One reason for this trend is the fact that the field of medical knowledge has become so wide and so complicated that no one man can keep informed about all of it. Another is that pay is better and a specialist has more life of his own. Then, too, the public has grown to believe that the real salvation for humanity is in elaborate clinics and specialized staffs.

Some steps are being taken to make a career as a general practitioner more desirable. Legislation is being proposed in some states to supply scholarship funds for students who will return to small towns on completion of their courses. Two years of special interne training for general practitioners are provided by some hospitals.

The old-fashioned family doctor was a force for good in his community. His understanding of human nature rivalled that of the modern psychiatrist, and his knowledge of the workings of the body was acquired by a wide and varied experience added to his school and hospital work. Much of his pay for long hours and hard work came in the form of the warm affection and confidence of his patients. Medical students of today could well follow his example. Families really need this help. The new doctors, however, need to be more justly paid in money as well as gratitude.

Three advantages result from Russian refusal to co-operate with the Western powers in any move toward the common good, says Hal O'Flaherty, an American correspondent in Europe.

- The division of Europe gives the United States and Britain a free hand to proceed with the restoration of western Germany. The intolerable delays can be avoided.
- The area to be given relief can be narrowed down and costs reduced.
- The demonstration of Western ideals in Europe will have a foil in the struggle of Russia to impose totalitarian methods and the police state on the nations immediately adjacent. One system or the other will prove to be right.

These three advantages will make things easier for the time being. But after the problems of occupation and reconstruction are solved or have worked themselves out, and Russia has had time to recoup her fortunes, the test will come. Can the two ideologies live side by side in the same world? Lincoln said that this nation could not exist half slave and half free.

A Letter from Washington

By Jane Eads

WASHINGTON — For hours it seemed the cocktail conversation had whirled around such topics as world affairs, whirling dervishes and—oh, yes—whirling discs.

Suddenly a dainty piece of golden-haired Dresden china leaned forward, blinked her long-lashed lids open and shut like venetian blinds and asked sweetly:

"What do you think is the most important event of the last 1,000 years?"

That threw them.

"Well, let's see now—" one began to muse.

"Uh, well—hey, give me time now. Let me think this through, now. Let me think this through," interjected another.

"I was just asking," said the blonde.

"You say the last 1,000 years?" asked a heavy thinker, puckering his brow like a Christmas raisin.

Three bright lads jumped in with their own birth dates.

"Where would I have been if I hadn't been born?" asked one with a puckish grin.

"Are you kidding?" asked someone on the fringe of the circle.

"Let's see now—how about the landing of the Mayflower on Plymouth Rock?" asked another thoughtfully.

"Why?" interrogated the blonde flatly.

"Well, after all, can't you see what it started?" was the reply.

The Declaration of Independence, the Norman conquest, the discovery of America, Marie Curie, jive talk, the zombie cocktail not to mention the two-way stretch and falsies were other contributions.

Can the world exist half under a free-enterprise system and half totalitarian? On the answer to this question the peace of the future depends.

First Citizen

One of the most honored titles in American life is the unofficial one of first citizen. Many cities and towns have some one man to whom everyone points as the prominent and useful member of the entire community. Elihu Root, lawyer, senator, secretary of war and of state, who lived to be 90, had that honor in New York City by general consent.

A less remembered predecessor of Root's is recalled by Margaret Clapp's new book, "Forgotten First Citizen, John Bigelow." As minister to France during the Civil War, Bigelow averted French intervention that might have altered the outcome of the war. He worked hard to make Samuel J. Tilden president, and might have become secretary of state in Tilden's cabinet. His great monument was his large responsibility for building the New York Public Library, one of the most important centers of learning and public service in the world.

It is to be hoped that not all first citizens suffer the oblivion that has befallen John Bigelow.

Trade Troubles

From Geneva, where the international trade conference is under way, George Weller writes that socialist forces in Australia and New Zealand are making uphill work for the attempt at trade agreements among 70 nations.

Russia and other Soviet-influenced powers are absent, and the active workers for a semi-collectivist control of trade are the two countries in the South Pacific, says Weller. New Zealand wants government power of decision over who may trade and where. The Americans are against such a system, realizing that it means political dominance over commerce. They have been encouraged by President Truman's veto of the wool bill, which until now has been a cause of friction.

A working-drawing for a system of world trade may be made at this conference, if a compromise can be reached between two opposing economic systems. Only when its specifications can be carried out, and goods are moving over land and sea, will international prosperity be possible.

Diet and Health

A Condition With a Long Name

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

NEARLY everyone has seen the "blisters" or swellings which appear on automobile tires whose side walls have become weakened. This is much like the out-pouching which sometimes occurs in the human bowel, causing the condition known as diverticulosis.

As a rule, such swellings, known as diverticula, occur in a group in some one portion of the bowel. Usually, the opening into these sacs is quite small so that material from the bowel tends to be retained in them there, after a time, it may produce inflammation.

After Forty

In most instances, the disorder occurs in those past forty years of age. It is especially likely to develop in older, heavier persons who lead an inactive life.

Certain complications may develop in this condition. For example, if the diverticula become inflamed, then the disorder is known as diverticulitis. Abscesses may form around the diverticulum or the bowel may rupture. Blocking of the passage to the bowel may occur because of scar tissue formation.

In diverticulosis, if no complications are present, there are usually such symptoms as constipation, indigestion, excessive gas in the bowel, and a recurring dull ache in the lower part of the abdomen with some tenderness of the same area.

If inflammation occurs

If inflammation of the diverticulum should occur, there is a great deal of pain in the affected region, fever, loss of appetite, while the bowel movements contain blood-stained mucus.

Frequently, the symptoms are much like those of appendicitis. Unfortunately, there is no treatment available which will get rid of the diverticula other than operation. However, operation is by no means necessary in all cases but is primarily required when complications develop. Diagnosis of diverticulosis and of diverticulitis usually can be made by means of X-ray examination. If one of the diverticula should rupture, the patient becomes severely ill and immediate operation is usually necessary.

A patient with diverticulosis should eat a well-balanced diet which does not contain excessive amounts of bulky foods or highly seasoned foods. The habit of utilizing laxatives should be avoided but stools should be kept soft.

UN Divided Over Nation Admission

LAKE SUCCESS, July 22—(AP)—The United States, Britain and Australia clashed with Russia today over a Soviet contention that a nation's behavior during World War II must be considered in deciding whether they shall be members of the United Nations.

Positions taken in preliminary discussion in the membership committee of the U. N. security council indicated that the big powers had not changed their minds from last year when outer Mongolia and Albania, favored by Russia, failed to get a majority in the security council and Russia vetoed Portugal, Ireland, and Trans-Jordan.

The committee is considering those five again, plus applications from Italy, Rumania, Hungary, and Austria.

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE

HERCULE POIROT and Inspector Grange went together through the chestnut woods to the swimming pool. The thing that had been John Christow but which was now "the body" had been photographed and measured and written about and examined by the police surgeon and had now been taken away to the mortuary. The swimming pool, Poirot thought, looked curiously innocent. Everything about today, he thought, had been strangely fluid. Except John Christow—he had not been fluid. Even in death he had been purposeful and objective. The swimming pool was not now pre-eminently a swimming pool; it was the place where John Christow's body had lain and where his life blood had welled away over concrete into artificially blue water.

Artificial—for a moment Poirot grasped at the word. . . . Yes, there had been something artificial about it all. As though—

A man in a bathing suit came up to the inspector.

"Here's the revolver, sir," he said.

Grange took the dripping object gingerly.

"No hope of fingerprints now," he remarked, "but luckily it doesn't matter in this case. Mrs. Christow was actually holding the revolver when you arrived, wasn't she, M. Poirot?"

"Yes."

"Identification of the revolver is the next thing," said Grange. "I should imagine Sir Henry will be able to do that for us. She got it from his study, I should say."

He cast a glance around the pool.

"Now, let's have that again to be quite clear. The path below the pool comes up from the farm and that's the way Lady Angkatell came. The other two, Mr. Edward Angkatell and Miss Savernake, came down from the woods—but not together. He came by the left-hand path, and she by the right-hand one, which leads out of the long flower walk above the house. But they were both standing on the far side of the pool when you arrived?"

"Yes."

"And this path here beside the pavilion leads on to Podder's Lane. Right—we'll go along it."

As they walked, Grange spoke, without excitement, just with knowledge and quiet pessimism.

"Never like these cases much," he said. "Had one last year—down near Ashridge. Retired military man he was—distinguished career. Wife was the nice, quiet, old-fashioned kind, sixty-five, gray-haired—rather pretty hair with a wave in it. Did a lot of gardening. One day she goes up to his room, gets out his service revolver, and walks out into the garden and shoots him. Just like that! A good deal behind it, of course, that one had to dig out. Sometimes they think up some fool story about a tramp! We pretend to accept it, of course, keep things quiet whilst we're making inquiries, but we know what's what."

"You mean," said Poirot, "that you have decided that Mrs. Christow shot her husband?"

Grange gave him a look of surprise.

"Well, don't you think so?"

Poirot said slowly, "It could all have happened as she said."

Inspector Grange shrugged his shoulders.

"It could have—yes. But it's a thin story. And they all think she killed him! They know something we don't." He looked curiously at his companion. "You thought she'd done it all right, didn't you, when you arrived on the scene?"

Poirot flatly closed his eyes. Coming along the path . . . Gudgeon stepping aside . . . Gerda Christow standing over her husband with the revolver in her hand and that blank look on her face. Yes, as Grange had said, he had thought she had done it . . . had thought, at least, that that was the impression he was meant to have.

Yes, but that was not the same thing. . . .

A scene staged—set to deceive. Had Gerda Christow looked like a woman who had just shot her husband? That was what Inspector Grange wanted to know.

And with a sudden shock of surprise, Hercule Poirot realized that in all his long experience of deeds of violence he had never actually come face to face with a woman who had just killed her husband. . . . What would a woman look like in such circumstances? Triumph, horrified, satisfied, dazed, incredulous, empty?

Any one of these things, he thought.

Inspector Grange was talking. Poirot caught the end of his speech.

"—once you get all the facts behind the case, and you can usually get all that from the servants."

"Mrs. Christow is going back to London?"

"Yes. There's a couple of kids there. Have to let her go. Of course we keep a sharp eye on her, but she won't know that. She thinks she's rather a stupid kind of woman to me."

Did Gerda Christow realize, Poirot wondered, what the police thought—and what the Angkatells thought? She had looked as though she did not realize anything at all—she had looked like a woman whose reactions were slow and who was completely dazed and heartbroken by her husband's death.

They had come out into the lane.

Poirot stopped by his gate. Grange said:

"This your little place? Nice and snug. Well, goodbye for the present, M. Poirot. Thanks for your co-operation. I'll drop in sometime and give you the low down on how we're getting on."

His eye traveled up the lane.

"Who's your neighbor? That's not where our new celebrity hangs out, is it?"

"Miss Veronica Cray, the actress, comes there for week-ends. I believe."

"Of course. Dovecot, I liked her in 'Lady Rides on Tiger,' but she's a bit highbrow for my taste."

He turned away.

"Well, I must get back to the job. So long, M. Poirot."

Inspector Grange laid the revolver on the desk in front of Sir

Henry and looked at him expectantly.

"Can I handle it?" Sir Henry's hand hesitated over the revolver as he asked the question.

Grange nodded.

"It's been in the pool. Destroyed whatever fingerprints there were on it. A pity, if I may say so, that Miss Savernake let it slip out of her hand."

"Yes, yes—but, of course, it was a very tense moment for all of us. Women are apt to get flustered and—er—drop things."

Again Inspector Grange nodded.

"Miss Savernake seems a cool, capable young lady on the whole."

The words were devoid of emphasis, yet something in them made Sir Henry look up sharply. Grange went on:

"Now, do you recognize it, sir?"

Sir Henry picked up the revolver and examined it. He noted the number and compared it with a list in a small leather-bound book. Then, closing the book with a sigh, he said:

"Yes, Inspector, this comes from my collection here."

"When did you see it last?"

"Yesterday afternoon. We were doing some shooting in the garden with a target, and this was one of the firearms we were using."

"Who actually fired this revolver on that occasion?"

"I think everybody had at least one shot with it."

"Including Mrs. Christow?"

"Including Mrs. Christow?"

"And after you had finished shooting?"

"I put the revolver away in its usual place. Here."

He pulled out the drawer of a big bureau. It was half full of guns.

"You've got a big collection of firearms, Sir Henry."

"It's been a hobby of mine for many years."

Inspector Grange's eyes rested thoughtfully on the ex governor of the Hollows Islands. A good-looking, distinguished man, the kind of man he would be quite pleased to serve under himself—in fact, a man he would much prefer to his own present chief constable.

Inspector Grange did not think much of the chief constable of Wexlshire—a fussy despot and a tuft-hunter—he brought his mind back to the job in hand.

The revolver was not, of course, loaded when you put it away, Sir Henry?"

"Certainly not."

"And you kept your ammunition—where?"

"Here." Sir Henry took a key from a pigeonhole and unlocked one of the lower drawers of the desk.

Simple enough, thought Grange. The Christow woman had seen where it was kept. She'd only got to come along and help herself. Jealousy, he thought, plays the devils with women. He'd lay ten to one it was jealousy. The thing would come clear enough when he'd finished the routine here and got onto the Harley Street end. But you'd got to do things in their proper order.

He got up and said:

"Well, thank you, Sir Henry. I'll let you know about the inquest."

Town that Atom Built Anticipates Boom

(Editor's Note: This is the first of two stories on Richland, Wash., a town the atom built, and what pastwar life is like to the 16,000 population of this unique "village" of the Pacific Northwest, still going through its growing pains.)

By JAMES HUTCHESON

RICHLAND, Wash., July 22—(AP)—The town the atom built is looking forward to its first postwar expansion boom, but it expects to retain much of the individuality that makes it the unique "village" of the Pacific Northwest.

The General Electric Company announcement this month of an expansion in the plutonium-producing Hanford Engineering Works also included plans for additions to this war-born community.

Richland is home to most of the workers who produce the element which was vital for the bombs which hit Nagasaki and Hiroshima just two years ago.

In its need for more homes, schools and hospital facilities, Richland shares a common problem with other newly-grown industrial communities. Beyond that it is a community with a personality of its own.

These are some of this four-year-old atomic city's claims to distinction:

New Equipment
For M Company
Arriving Here

Guard Unit Here Will Not Go to Camp
This Year

The Ohio National Guard unit here is in training to use the new signal and engineering equipment which has been received, Capt. Darrell Williams said Tuesday, as he announced that a shipment of ordnance is expected soon.

So far, the unit has received fire control equipment, compasses, plotting boards and other signal and engineering equipment. The 26 members of the unit will master the use of these instruments so that in time of an emergency, they will be able to train others in their use.

The ordnance which the unit is expecting within the next few weeks, will include rifle, machine guns, bazookas and 75 mm. rifles, said Capt. Williams. Training with these weapons will also begin as soon as they are received.

This equipment is coming from army depots throughout the country and so far, some has been received from as far away as Utah. Capt. Williams explained that requisitions of need material is sent out to depots over the country and these depots check the equipment they are able to provide. The lists are then returned here and consolidated by the unit here and the equipment ordered, said Capt. Williams.

Capt. Williams said he expected the strength of the unit to be about 46 by September. He said the quota for a full guard unit here is 150 men and seven officers. Two years will be allowed to reach this quota.

Captain Williams said that the company, which is not fully organized, will not get to Camp Perry for the armed training period this year.

36 Feared Killed
In Plane Crash

BUENOS AIRES, July 22—(AP)—An Argentine army transport plane crashed today near the El Palomar military airport and first unofficial reports said 36 persons were killed.

The air secretariat promised a communique later in the day. An air demonstration in which 200 planes had been scheduled to fly over the capital was cancelled.

Sheep Exhibit At Fayette County Fair Promises to Eclipse All Previous Shows

The Fayette County Shepherds Club completed final plans for an outstanding sheep exhibit at the Fair. The club has been busy throughout the year making plans for this event. A successful livestock show is not made over night, so realizing this they started arrangements early in the season.

New trophies have been ordered for the champion of each breed. An excellent premium list has been offered by the Fair Board—a prize list that will encourage new exhibitors to bring their sheep out and show. The judge will probably be a sheep expert from Ohio State University, announcement to be made later.

Willard Bitzer a director of the club will be superintendent of sheep this year. The sheep barn will again be a gathering place for exhibitors and their friends. There will be comfortable seats; it is always cool and Walter Thompson, the genial chairman of the Shepherd Club entertainment committee, always has ice water on tap.

Five breeds of sheep will be represented in the show ring: Suffolk, Shropshire, Southdown, Corriedale and Dorset. In addition there will be on exhibition one of Kentucky's top flocks of Cheviots. This flock is owned by Turney Collins of Cynthia and will be in charge of Raymond Grieve of Xenia. Another out-of-state flock being shown at the Fair will be the Greathope flock of Suffolks owned by Mr. and Mrs. Don Ross of Michigan. This flock was piloted by G. B. Vance during the 1946 campaign and will be again this year.

Sprinkled in among the regulars—the oldtimers that always exhibit at the Fayette County Fair—will be many new faces battling for those ribbons.

The sheep fraternity welcomes with pleasure two of their top shepherds who will be back in the ring after spending months in the armed forces. Dick Babb who arrived home just in time last year to assist Vance show his Suffolk has been getting his own Shropshires ready to show. Jake White who showed his Southdowns in the open class before enlisting in the navy also was released last August and made a few of the state fairs with the Bitzer Dorsets. Jake will be holding his own Southdowns this year.

The main event of the sheep show is always the judging of the 4-H club exhibits. Increasing the interest this year will be the added attraction of more entries in the purebred classes. Many 4-H Club boys and girls feeling they have passed the probationary period in sheep husbandry have branched out into the pure bred breeding classes and have purchased some registered ewes. In breeding classes will be Dean and Jerry Cory with Shropshires, Dean Hawk with Shropshires, Oliver and Elizabeth Iden with Dorsets and the veterans Helen and Drexel Hines with their Cheviots.

Back again will be the Bloomer boys, Max and Malcolm, with their Corriedales. Last year they not only showed in the club exhibit they entered them in the open classes at the Fayette County Fair and from there went on to brave the open classes at the Ohio State Fair. They brought home many ribbons from that event.

The club exhibitors this year will miss from their number the smiling face of Dave Ogan, who for a number of years has shown his Shropshires in the breeding classes and has been president of the Marion Township Wool Tyers. Dave has been M. P. counselor and general manager to the sheep boys and girls since the new sheep barn was built, popular with them and the older group. Dave will be entering Ohio Wesleyan next fall and was forced to disperse

Fischer - Stuckey Wedding vows Read June 22

The wedding of Miss Mary Eleanor Fischer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Fischer of near Circleville to Mr. Wenrich Stuckey Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Wenrich Stuckey, also of the Circleville community, was solemnized on Sunday, June 22, in the Trinity Lutheran Church in Circleville, at four-thirty in the afternoon.

Reverend Carl D. Fischer, uncle of the bride, assisted by Reverend G. L. Troutman officiated at the impressive ceremony before a background of ferns and white delphinium, softly lighted with white tapers in seven branch candelabra.

The bride was escorted down the white carpeted aisle by her father, who gave her in marriage. She chose for her marriage a gown of marquisette and ivory satin, with a long circular train. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a braided Juliet cap, and she carried a white Bable, topped with a single white orchid from which fell a shower of satin ribbons, knotted with baby's breath.

Miss Carolyn Fischer, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor, dressed in yellow moire taffeta. Mrs. Ellis Evans, sister of the bride and Miss Marvina Stuckey, sister of the groom, were bridesmaids. Their dresses were made alike of blue moire taffeta. Marcia Patterson, niece of the bride, was flower girl and she was dressed in a white moire taffeta frock.

Mr. John Stuckey was best man and Mr. Donald Porter of near Circleville, Mr. Donald Waliser of Turlington, Mr. Ellis Evans of Blacklick, and Mr. Don C. Patterson of Columbus were ushers.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents for relatives and close friends.

Mrs. Fischer received her guests in a grey and white print dress and corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Stuckey was dressed in a navy and white sheer print frock. Her corsage was also of pink carnations.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Stuckey left immediately following the reception for a honeymoon through Michigan, Canada and New York. Upon their return, they will reside for the remainder of the summer at Somers.

The bride was graduated from Jackson Township High School and Capital University, Columbus, and was a member of the faculty of Washington C. H. High School for two years.

Mr. Stuckey was graduated from Pickaway Township High School, and will resume his studies in the college of agriculture at Ohio State University, Columbus, in the fall term. At present he is assisting the county agent in Perry County.

Large Crowd Enjoys Dinner At Country Club

Miss Marian Moore, Mrs. B. E. Layman, Mrs. Harold Slagle and Miss Kathleen Davis made up the capable committee who extended cordial hospitality to a large number of members and their families on Monday evening at the regular family night covered dish dinner at the Washington Country Club.

Small vases of summer flowers centered each of the tables seating th group for a delicious meal, consisting of every conceivable viand, served from one long table, also decorated with summer flowers.

The pleasant evening was enjoyed by the large crowd, who lingered and made up several tables informally in the bridge game.

Mrs. H. Vernon Scott was an out of town member attending, and Mrs. D. S. Mann of St. Louis, Mo., Nancy Ann, Frankie and Jackie Hedges of Hillsboro and Janie Dabe of Sabina were out of town guests.

Engagement Is Announced

Mrs. Viola Whited of Milledgeville is announcing the engagement of her daughter, Miss Hazel Jane Whited, of Dayton, to Mr. Carl Riggan, son of Mrs. Charley Mongold of Edgefield.

The wedding will be an event of October 11. Several parties are being planned for the bride-elect, both in Milledgeville and in Dayton, where she has resided for the past three years.

Newly - Weds Are Honored

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Oswald was beautifully decorated with pastel colored arrangements of sweet peas for the occasion, when they complimented Mr. and Mrs. Donald Walston, who were married recently, with a family dinner and shower on Sunday evening.

A three-tiered wedding cake centered the one beautifully appointed table seating the guests for the sumptuous meal. A handsome array of gifts were presented to the couple during the evening and each was graciously acknowledged.

Informal visiting completed the pleasant event.

Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Wells Reinohl, daughters, Vicki Sue and Bonnie Lou, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Wilson, son, Hugh, Miss Betty Oswald, Mrs. Elsie Lininger all of near this city, and Mr. Charles Myers of Wilmington.

Guests Honored With Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. John Weade and son, Frank, entertained with a delicious three course fried chicken dinner at their lovely country home on the Flakes Ford Road, Monday evening at six-thirty. The home was decorated with summer flowers and the occasion complimented Mr. and Mrs. Marion Sollars of De Witt, Arkansas.

The table seating the guests was beautifully appointed and was adorned with a center arrangement of crystal candelabra holding white tapers surrounded with miniature crystal vases filled with small yellow and white flowers on a plateau mirror.

Following the congenial dinner hour, the remainder of the evening was spent in informal visiting. Additional guests were Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Sollars and son, Frank.

Atomic Energy Will Be Theme Of Lecture

Lt. Col. Perry Thomas Is Coming On August 15

A "Town Meeting" talk on atomic energy and the international control of Atomic power will be given by Lt. Col. Perry Thomas at 8 P. M. August 15 in the high school auditorium, under the sponsorship of the loosely-knit combined veterans' organization which met Monday in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

This group decided that as a vote of thanks to the community, the veterans' groups in the county would jointly sponsor Thomas' talk. Those present at the meeting were Darrell Williams, commander of the Paul H. Hughey American Legion post; Henry Litz, commander of the VFW; Howard Melvin, commander of the DAV; and John P. Case and Dick Earl of the Tri-County Reserve Officers Association.

The Legion and VFW posts in Jeffersonville; the auxiliaries in Washington C. H. and Jeffersonville; the Lawson Legion post and the Ohio National Guard will also be included in the committee to make arrangements for the lecture. Litz pointed out that the veterans' organizations frequently ask the public for assistance and the free presentation of the talk will be a gesture of thanks.

Lt. Col. Thomas' talk will be divided into three parts. In the first he will discuss the preparation for the bomb test, the development of the atom smasher and atomic fission; in the second, he will show colored films of the tests at Bikini and the bombings of Nagasaki and Hiroshima; and the third will be devoted to a discussion of international control and a question and answer period.

Lt. Col. Thomas was the chief of photographic engineering section of the atomic bomb tests at Bikini. He was awarded the Army Legion of Merit for notable research work as a photographic engineer.

It was also suggested that announcements and invitations be sent out to the presidents of the 52 organizations in the county to attend the talk, for which there is no admission. A meeting of the committee to appoint ushers and make other arrangements will be held at the C of C office August 5.

It was pointed out that this is a particularly appropriate time to have this talk since it comes the day after V-J day.

Level of Ocean Is Rising But Not So You'd Notice It

By CHARLES MOLONY
WASHINGTON — Look out, landlubbers—the seas are coming after you. Observations showing that ocean levels are rising have just been disclosed by the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey.

Don't let it disturb you, though. The upward trend, as recorded by the survey over the last couple of decades, is at "a rate of approximately 1½ feet in a century."

A little curbstone calculation shows it'll take 3,520 years—until 3466 A. D.—to cover up a mile of coastland, which means that people in Kansas City can afford to ignore the matter.

Bears Watching
Nevertheless, on the word of survey experts, who go in for the long-range view, "from an engineering and geophysical point of view it is very important to keep track of this movement."

In fact, the survey'll do it for you and let you know how it's going—it claims ability now to predict tides 100 years in advance "if necessary"—because it does some careful checking on the ocean level at least once a year.

Tide-gauge records were checked at Portland, Me.; New

The Washington Lumber Co.

York, Baltimore and "as far south as Key West," with the same old result—level rising at the rate of 1½ feet a century.

Titles At Stake
The trend may change from up to down at any time, the survey acknowledges, but it observes that "if the rise should continue indefinitely it might well affect tidal water land titles and have an influence on other matters of economic and social importance."

Why is the ocean acting up? That's simple, says the survey. "Gradual receding of the world's great glaciers, which has been going on for a long period," adds a lot of new water from the melted ice.

Oil Export Ban Started On Way

WASHINGTON, July 22.—(AP)—The House Merchant Marine Committee has approved a bill to block petroleum shipments to any foreign country unless the secretary of commerce certifies that the exports will not interfere with national defense or national security.

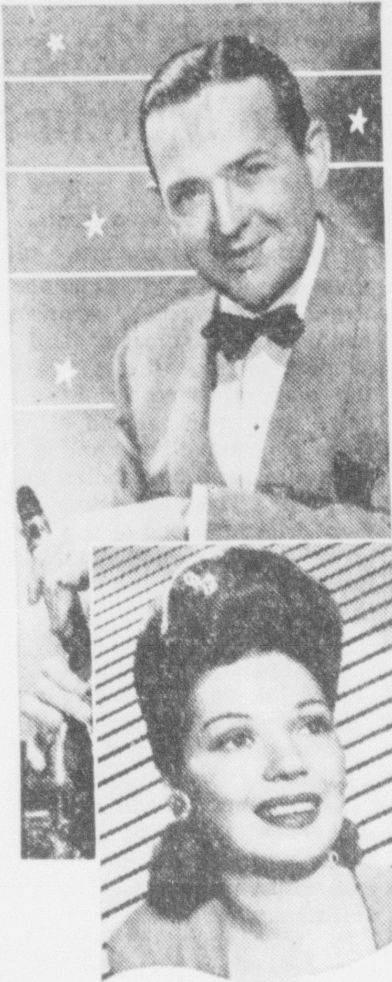

The bill tentatively is scheduled for House consideration late this week. It grew out of a committee inquiry into shipments of petroleum products to Russia.

The bill would embargo shipments of gasoline, Diesel oil, bunker oil and lubricating oil unless the secretary certifies to the president that the shipments will not interfere with national defense or national security and will not impair civilian supplies.

Iron Consumption Up For This Year

CLEVELAND, July 22.—(AP)—Iron ore consumption by United States and Canadian furnaces totaled 6,499,862 gross tons during June, compared with 4,994,936 tons the same month a year ago, the Lake Superior Iron Ore Association reported today.

Total consumption for the first six months of 1947 was 40,230,652 gross tons, compared with 24,242,288 tons for the first six months of last year.

Current Biography Added to Library

The life stories of 319 people who figure in the news of 1946 appear in "Current Biography 1946," a 734 volume which has been added to the reference section of the Carnegie Public Library, said Miss Elizabeth Johnson, head librarian.

"Current Biography 1946" is a one-alphabet cumulation of the biographical articles and obituaries that appeared in the year's monthly issues, revised and brought up to date as of December 31, 1946. Each sketch includes a photograph and references to additional material.

A seven-year index, covering 1940 to 1946, includes the names of all those whose biographies or obituaries have appeared in "Current Biography" from the first issue through December 1946.

We can sincerely say...

Sohio's great new ATLAS TIRE will give you more mileage, more safety than any pre-war first-line quality tire!

Here's why! See that tread? It's new, different. It's wider, flatter, puts more rubber on the road... gives you many more miles, much greater protection against blowouts.

An entirely new tire is now making its mark on the highways of America.

In its development, 392 separate tread designs of every possible type were built into actual tires and taken out to the testing grounds with two objectives in mind—longer mileage, greater safety. The mark you see at the right is the mark of the tread which outlasted every other tread design.

This new, longer mileage Atlas is backed by SOHIO'S famous Atlas guarantee—one of the broadest ever written, with instant make-good at 38,000 Atlas dealers coast to coast.

IT'S WIDER! for mileage and safety

IT'S FLATTER! for mileage and safety

IT'S COOLER! for mileage and safety

And, ATLAS TIRES carry SOHIO'S famous written guarantee.

Another Hectic Down to the Wire Finish For the Pennant

By JOE REICHLER
(By the Associated Press)

Baseball fans are hereby given fair warning to be prepared for another hectic down-to-the-wire finish in the National League pennant race with the Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals once again assuming the leading roles.

Despite the Brooks' handsome four-game bulge—six and a half over the fourth-place Redbirds—the Cardinals are not as bad off as at first glance would seem to imply. The schedule is heavily in their favor.

Of the four chief contenders—Brooklyn, New York, Boston and St. Louis—the Cards have the most games left to play at home—38. The Giants have 30, the Braves 28 and the Dodgers have the least number of all, 26.

Of 51 games played in the friendly confines of Ebbets Field, the Dodgers have won 36, lost 15 for a remarkable .706 percentage, fully 110 points above their season's overall record. No wonder the Dodger entourage, heading west today for the start of an 18-game road trip, was humming the familiar tune of "There's No Place Like Home."

In comparison, the Cards show a .615 home record with 24 won and 15 lost. The Braves have a 30-19 won and lost mark for .612 and the Giants boast a .596 figure for 28 wins and 19 losses.

The Dodgers staged a temporary party at Ebbets Field yesterday by knocking off the Cincinnati Reds in both ends of a doubleheader, 7-4 and 4-3. Catcher Bruce Edwards was the big fun for the Brooks, driving in four runs in the opening victory and knocking in the winning run in the nightcap with a ninth inning single.

The Dodgers were forced to come from behind in each game, much to the delight of 35,092 cash customers making up the largest home attendance of the season.

Pete Reiser, the hard-luck champlon, bruised his left shoulder when he fell fielding Young's inside-the-park homer in the first game, and was forced to retire. He is expected to be out three or four days.

Babe Young got the Reds off to an early 4-2 lead in the opener with a two-run, inside the park homer, but Brooklyn tied the count in the sixth, knocking starter Bucky Walters from the mound and continuing the assault against Harry Gumbert in the next round.

Trailing 3-1 in the second game, the Dodgers pulled into a tie on homers by Carl Furillo and Dixie Walker.

In the only other game played in the major yesterday, the Phillies whipped the Pirates in Pittsburgh in a night game 8-1 to stay out of the National League cellar. The Phils hopped on Roger Wolff, the refugee knuckleballer from the American League, for six runs in the first inning to make Dutch Leonard's 11th win his easiest of the year. Dutch, also a knuckleball artist, is also a former American Leaguer. Both played for the Washington Senators.

No other teams were scheduled, although the New York Yankees met the Boston Braves in the annual Hall of Fame game at Cooperstown, N. Y., with the Braves eking out a 4-3 decision in 10 innings.

Before the game 15 newcomers were officially welcomed into baseball's Hall of Fame. They were Ed Walsh, Rube Waddell, Joe Tinker, Johnny Evers, Frank Chance, Eddie Plank, Tom McCarthy, Jesse Burkett, Jack Chesbro, Iron Man Joe McGinnity, Clark Griffith, Carl Hubbell, Frank Frisch, Lefty Bob Grove and Mickey Cochrane.

Grid Pros Ease Up On College Stars

PITTSBURGH, July 22—(P)—National football league owners have popped out of a huddle with a new play for college good will—but it'll take time to determine whether they "house-trapped" themselves or the rival All-American conference with the maneuver.

The national leaguers voted at a meeting yesterday to prohibit the signing of players still eligible for college competition after their original classes have graduated, if the prospects have registered for further education. The new rule is not retroactive.

Previously, league teams were permitted to sign willing collegians whose classes had graduated or who had received sheepskins in accelerated courses without exhausting their collegiate eligibility.

The All-American operates under limitations similar to the old national rule. With the more stringent stand taken by the 28-year-old National Circuit, the All-American now has a clear field to players whose college careers were interrupted with no loss of eligibility.

Sophomores Beat Seniors Monday

Trampling all over their big brothers, the High School League Sophomores trounced the Seniors' second team 18 to eight at Rose Avenue Monday afternoon.

Starting off with gusto, the Seniors scored four runs in the first inning, holding the Sophomores to one. Hitting their stride in the third, the Sophomores brought in three runs, eight in the fourth, in a wild burst of hitting, two in the fifth and four in the sixth.

Red Birds Lose In Hard Battle

(By the Associated Press)

St. Paul's Leroy Pfund was giving his pitching arm a good rest today.

Pfund had to toil through 13 innings last night to stave off Columbus with a 5-hitter as the Saints captured a 1-0 decision. Pfund struck out seven and walked five.

The Saints had 10 men stranded on the paths although they nicked Charley Stanceau for 12 hits. Rookie Duke Snider broke up the game with a single in the final round.

In the American Association's only other game, seventh place Toledo quelled a ninth-inning rally to edge Minneapolis 6-5. The Mudhens rolled up five runs in the seventh inning, and what proved to be the deciding run came across when Jack Emmerich committed a balk.

Wright Field To Hold Open House August 3

Many From Fayette Expected to Attend Unusual Event

Many Fayette Countians will attend a mammoth display of the newest types of AAF aircraft, an elaborate exhibit of the latest aeronautical equipment and a whirlwind flying show which feature an "open house" to be held by the Air Material Command, at Wright Field, Sunday, August 3, and to which the public is invited.

In commemoration of the 40th anniversary of the AAF, AMC will present a stellar flying program involving the new P-80 Shooting Star, the type of jet fighter that recently smashed the world's speed record. Such aerial stunts as Cuban eights, Immelman's high speed passes, and vertical rolls will be presented. Formation flying by a group of the war-famous B-29 Superfortresses will also be included on the program.

In addition, spectators will witness a glider pick-up by a transport plane, two radio-controlled planes operated completely without human hands touching the controls, and the new jet-assisted take-off that allows a plane to become airborne in less than 200 feet.

A fleet of the AAF's newest transport, fighter, and bomber planes will be assembled along the flight line. The big C-97 transport; the lightning-fast attack bomber, the A-26; the famous "Betty-Jo," a P-82 that recently flew from Hawaii to New York in the longest non-stop flight of a fighter plane will all be on review.

From the various laboratories will come the latest developments in aeronautics research, showing how the Army Air Forces today are trying to assure America's greatness in the air. Projects from such laboratories as the aeromedical, engine, armament, airframe, equipment, electronics, propeller, and photographic will be assembled in a huge hangar along the flight line.

The hours for the show are set at noon until 5:00 P. M., but the gates will be opened at 11:00 A. M. Ample parking space, refreshment stands, and other arrangements for the accommodation of the crowd expected are being prepared.

Entrance to the field will be only through the main gate at Wright Field, area "B" via Route 4. Admission is free, and AMC officials anticipate the largest turnout in many years.

County Courts

CASES DISMISSED

Two divorce cases have been dismissed by Judge H. M. Rankin, upon request of the plaintiffs in the actions.

The cases were:
Mary Alice Lockard against John Lockard.
Ruby Simmerman against Gail Simmerman.

DIVORCE WANTED

Divorce is asked by Dora Augustus from Gerald Lee Augustus, in a suit filed in common pleas court Tuesday.

The parties were married April 16, 1943, in Covington, Ky., and gross neglect of duty is charged by Mrs. Augustus, who is represented by Hill and Hill. She also asks to be restored to her former name of Dora Sharrett.

New Car Arrives For Fire Officers

A bright red 1947 Chevrolet parked in front of the Fire Station Tuesday attracted a crowd of men and boys while Chief George Hall explained that the new car was to be the chief's and emergency car for the Fire Department, which arrived Monday night.

The automobile, which was bought for the Fire Department, will be used by the chiefs, officers, and all other members of the department, for investigating nuisance complaints, smoking scares and other calls.

The car will be equipped with a siren and will be lettered in gold leaf on the doors, the hood and the back. It will carry half of the department's emergency equipment, including blankets, stretchers, half of the inhalator and resuscitator equipment.

This will be used for both the chief's car and an emergency car until later, when Chief Hall expects a regular emergency car for the department.

4-H Livestock Judging Schedule

Following is the schedule of judging for the 4-H Livestock classes at the Fayette County Fair this week:

WEDNESDAY—1 p. m. 4-H Pigs: 1st—Market class under 200 lbs.; 2nd—Market class over 200 lbs.; 3rd—Breeding classes; 4th—Sow and litter.

THURSDAY—9 a. m. dairy calves; 9:30 a. m. beef breeding; 11 a. m. Sheep: 1st—Market class 2 lambs under 75 lbs.; 2nd—Market class 1 lamb under 75 lbs.; 4th—Market class 1 lamb over 75 lbs.; 5th—Breeding classes. 1 p. m. 4-H Fat steers: 1st—Western drawn steers; 2nd—Home purchased steer; 3rd—Junior calf club members steers.

City to Mow Weeds In Vacant Lots

The city engineering department will have facilities for mowing weeds in vacant lots this week. W. W. Hill, city manager, said Tuesday and any householders who wish their lots mowed may call the city auditor's office and report the location they wish mowed.

Hill said that many people are having difficulty finding someone to do this work and in order to help eliminate the problem of breeding insects, the city has volunteered to do the mowing. The department will use a Damon Baker's tractor mower for the work.

Motorist taxes in 1946 totalled $2,507,000,000.

Band Boosters Planning Tags For The Fair

When anyone at the Fair Friday is seen wearing a small tag in his button hole, with a large black musical note on it, it will mean that he has contributed to the Fayette All-County Band Fund.

Mrs. Clark Robinson, chairman of the Fayette All-County Band Boosters, explained that the musical note is "do". In the upper left corner the tag reads "Dough for Fayette All-County Band."

"It's a terrible pun," she said, but she hopes that the spirit would inspire many contributions. No specific amount is being asked, she said, but people will be asked to give whatever they wish.

Five couples from every individual band boosters group at the four county high schools will be at the Fairground to sell these tags. The Fair Board has designated Friday as Fayette All-County Band Boosters day.

On Friday and Saturday, the all-county band will give performances at the grandstands.

The money collected on this day will go into the fund to buy instruments, music and uniforms for the band. So far, the Band Boosters have collected well over $1,700.

Temperature At Near Low Point Here For July 22

Reading Here Monday Night Was 49 Degrees

Temperature dropped to 49 degrees Monday night for one of the lowest July 22 readings ever recorded here, and the unseasonably cool weather spread over the Midwest generally and also into parts of the southwest.

Temperatures hit near record lows at many points.

The U. S. weather bureau in Chicago said temperatures this morning from Minnesota eastward to Indiana and south into Missouri and Arkansas ranged from 40 to 50 above. The mass of cool air from Canada modified as it moved southwestward but at Harrison, Ark., the mercury dropped to 49 and it registered 50 at Advance, Mo. La Crosse, Wis., reported a low of 41.

Chicago's early morning reading of 49.4 equalled the all-time low for July and followed a day when the mercury failed to rise above 68.2 degrees on a July 21 for the first time in 51 years.

Although some of the cool air hit the northern part of Texas, continued warm weather was forecast from Texas westward to California after temperatures yesterday of from 90 to 100.

Rain has fallen over the north-eastern states and scattered showers and thundershowers were reported over the southeastern states, the Rocky Mountain region and the southern plains states.

Temperatures will average four to six degrees below normal. Normal minimum 62 to 64. Normal maximum 80 to 85. Unseasonably cold tonight with gradual warming trend beginning Thursday and continuing through Saturday. Precipitation will average around one-half inch occurring around the week-end.

Wood alcohol is made by neutralizing with lime "wood vinegar" obtained by the destructive distillation of wood.

Duck or Die

This little game of leap frog with life and death as stakes is just one of the stunts B. Ward Beam's World Champion Daredevils will attempt when the troupe of 10 of the world's greatest stuntmen go through their program of 15 thrillers—eight of which never have been tried before—at Fayette County Fair, Washington C. H. on two nights Friday and Saturday, 25th and 26th.

Mrs. Frank Haines Invited to Forum

Because of the Fair, Mrs. Frank Haines, president of the Fayette County WCTU, will probably not get to attend the annual two-day WCTU Federation Workshop at Lancaster Camp Ground Thursday, although she was one of 14 county presidents chosen to take part in an open forum discussion.

This discussion will be of past experiences in local option and prospects for the future. Miss Grace D. Richmond, the WCTU's state corresponding secretary, said that 13 other county presidents will probably take part.

These are Mrs. Blanche Starkey, Athens; Mrs. Gladys Yenger, Fairfield; Mrs. Rose Henderson, Franklin; Mrs. Paul Monks, Hocking; Mrs. Birdena Rosel, Licking; Mrs. Edith Stephenson, Madison; Mrs.

Effie Michener, Morgan; Mrs. Vera Sroufe Davis, Muskingum; Mrs. Eva Clum, Perry; Mrs. Edna R. Ewing, Pickaway; Mrs. Carlos Eycke, Ross; Mrs. O. G. Bond, Scioto, and Mrs. Nira B. Tucker, Vinton.

Driver Is Fined And Pays Damages

John William Morris, 24, Sabina, who was taken into custody Sunday about 10 P. M. after his auto had struck Patrolman Walter Marshall's auto parked at the curb in Clinton Avenue, was fined $100 and costs by Judge R. H. Sites and agreed to make good the damage to the Marshall car, when he faced a charge of driving while drunk.

After crashing against the Marshall car the Morris auto went 125 feet and struck a utility pole, breaking it off and completely wrecking his car.

IMMEDIATE DELIVERY

MONITOR AERATOR WASHER

- WASHES A FULL-SIZE LAUNDRY IN 1/2 TO 1 1/2 THE TIME
- CLEANS BETTER THAN MOST WASHERS THAT COST 3 TIMES AS MUCH
- RINSES SO THOROUGHLY THAT OUTSIDE DRYING IS UNNECESSARY
- CAN BE EASILY ROLLED OUT OF SIGHT WHEN NOT IN USE.

Utilizing a new and exclusive patented principle, the Monitor Aerator Washer is setting new laundry standards for speed and cleanliness. It washes clothes whiter than you ever believed possible in from 3 to 5 minutes. Then—one rinsing in the Aerator Washer removes every last bit of suds and dirt so that outside drying is unnecessary. The Monitor comes equipped with a hand wringer that actually operates faster than power wringers: folds snugly down into the stainless steel tub when not in use. Let us give you the complete facts on the Monitor Aerator Washer today.
